III. Principles of Data Processing

1. MCC processes personal data in accordance with good faith, fairness, transparency, applicable legislation, and this Notice.
2. Data are processed exclusively for the purposes defined herein and not beyond.

3. If MCC intends to use the data for a purpose other than that for which they were originally collected, it will inform the data subject and — unless another legal basis under the GDPR applies — will obtain the data subject’s prior, explicit consent, or provide the right to object to such use.
4. MCC does not verify the provided personal data; the provider of the data is solely responsible for their accuracy.
5. Personal data may be transferred to third parties only with the explicit and unequivocal consent of the data subject, unless MCC is legally obliged to transfer personal data to authorities. MCC bears no liability for such legally required transfers.
6. MCC ensures the security of personal data by implementing appropriate technical and organisational measures to prevent accidental loss, destruction, unauthorised access, use, alteration, or distribution.
7. Access to personal data is limited to employees and persons acting within MCC’s sphere who require such data for performing their tasks.

IV. Rights of the Data Subject

1. Data subjects may exercise their rights:

- by email
- by post
- in person

2. The rights of the Data Subject

2.1. Right to information and access

The data subject may request information regarding the data processed, purposes, legal bases, duration, processors, transfers, and details of any data protection incident.

A copy of the processed data may also be requested.

In case of electronic requests, MCC provides information primarily in PDF format, unless the data subject requests otherwise.

MCC may refuse requests that would adversely affect the rights or freedoms of others, including business secrets or intellectual property.

2.2. Right to rectification

The data subject has the right to request the correction, modification, or completion of inaccurate personal data processed by MCC.

2.3. Right to data portability

The data subject has the right to receive the personal data they provided to MCC in a structured, commonly used, machine-readable format, and to transmit those data to another controller without hindrance.

2.4. Right erasure („right to be forgotten”)

The data subject may request the deletion of personal data where, among other cases:

- the personal data are no longer necessary for the purpose for which they were collected or otherwise processed;
- the processing was based on the data subject’s consent, but the data subject has withdrawn such consent and there is no other legal basis for the processing;
- the processing was based on the legitimate interest of MCC or a third party, but the data subject has objected to the processing and—except in the case of objection to processing for direct marketing purposes—there is no overriding legitimate ground for the processing;
- MCC has processed the personal data unlawfully; or
- the erasure of the personal data is required for compliance with a legal obligation.

MCC shall in all cases inform the data subject of any refusal to comply with a request for erasure (for example, where the processing is necessary for the establishment, exercise, or defence of legal claims), indicating the reason for refusing the erasure. The erasure of personal data is carried out in such a way that, following the fulfilment of the erasure request, the previously stored (erased) data can no longer be restored. Beyond the exercise of the right to erasure, MCC shall also erase the personal data if the processing is unlawful, if the purpose of the processing has ceased, if the statutory retention period has expired, or if a court or an authority has ordered the erasure.

2.5. Right to restriction of processing

The data subject may request the restriction of processing, if

- the data subject contests the accuracy of the personal data — in this case, the restriction applies for a period enabling MCC to verify the accuracy of the personal data;
- the processing is unlawful, but the data subject opposes the erasure of the data and instead requests the restriction of their use;
- MCC no longer needs the personal data for the purposes of processing, but the data subject requires them for the establishment, exercise, or defence of legal claims; or
- the data subject has objected to the processing — in this case, the restriction applies for a period necessary to determine whether MCC's legitimate grounds override those of the data subject.

In the event of a restriction of processing, MCC shall not process the personal data concerned by the restriction — apart from storage — or shall process them only to the extent to which the data subject has consented, or, in the absence of such consent, only those data which are necessary for the establishment, exercise, or defence of legal claims, or for the protection of the rights of another natural or legal person, or for reasons of important public interest of the European Union or of a Member State. MCC shall inform the data subject in advance of the lifting of the restriction.

2.6. Right to object

Where the legal basis of the processing is the legitimate interest of MCC or of a third party (with the exception of mandatory processing), the data subject shall have the right to object to the processing of personal data. MCC is not obliged to uphold the objection if it demonstrates that:

- the processing is justified by compelling legitimate grounds which override the interests, rights, and freedoms of the data subject; or
- the processing is related to the establishment, exercise, or defence of MCC's legal claims.

MCC shall examine the lawfulness of the data subject's objection, and if it finds the objection to be well-founded, it shall terminate the processing.

Where personal data are processed for the purpose of direct marketing, the data subject shall have the right to object at any time to the processing of personal data relating to them for such purposes.

2.7. Right to legal remedies

See section VII.

2.8. Right to withdraw consent

The data subject shall have the right to withdraw their consent to the processing at any time, it being understood that the withdrawal of consent shall not affect the lawfulness of processing based on consent before its withdrawal.

2. MCC shall examine without delay the request submitted in accordance with the above, shall take a decision on whether to comply with or reject the request, shall take the necessary measures, and shall inform the data subject accordingly. In the event of rejection, the information provided shall include the legal basis and reasons for the refusal, as well as the data subject's available legal remedies.
3. MCC shall inform all recipients to whom the personal data have been disclosed of any rectification, erasure, or restriction of processing, unless such notification proves impossible or requires a disproportionate effort.

V. Data protection incidents

MCC shall report the personal data breach to the National Authority for Data Protection and Freedom of Information without undue delay, unless the personal data breach is unlikely to result in a risk to the rights and freedoms of the data subjects. The Controller shall keep a record of personal data breaches together with the measures taken in connection with the given incident. If the incident is serious (that is, it is likely to involve a high risk to the rights and freedoms of the data subject), the Controller shall inform the data subject of the personal data breach without undue delay.

VI. Modification of the Notice

1. MCC reserves the right to amend this Notice at any time by unilateral decision, and shall inform the data subject thereof via the contact details provided.
2. If the data subject does not agree with the amendment, they may request the erasure of their personal data in accordance with Section IV.

VII. Legal remedies

1. MCC, as the controller, may be contacted with any questions or comments relating to data processing using the contact details specified in Section I.
2. In the event of an infringement concerning the processing of the data subject's personal data, the data subject shall have the right to lodge a complaint with the competent data protection supervisory authority of the Member State of their habitual residence, place of work, or place of the alleged infringement.

In Hungary, complaints shall be submitted to the National Authority for Data Protection and Freedom of Information ("NAIH", address: 1055 Budapest, Falk Miksa utca 9–11.; mailing address: 1363 Budapest, Pf. 9.; telephone: +36-1-391-1400; e-mail: ugyfelszolgalat@naih.hu; website: www.naih.hu).

The data subject may bring the matter before a court in the following cases:

- in the event of an infringement of rights,
- against a legally binding decision of the supervisory authority concerning the data subject,
- if the supervisory authority does not deal with the submitted complaint or does not inform the data subject within three months about the procedural developments or the outcome of the complaint.

The adjudication of the action falls within the jurisdiction of the tribunal (törvényszék) (<https://birosag.hu/torvenyszekek>).

The action may also be brought before the tribunal having jurisdiction over the data subject's place of residence, at the data subject's choice.
